

Logical ability

Alva's logic test assesses logical ability, i.e., how efficiently one processes complex information and draws accurate conclusions from it.

The standard score is an estimation of logical ability, compared to other people in the working population.

The most common standard scores are 5 and 6. The percentile ranges for these scores are wide due to the fact that they cover a large proportion of the population.

9 out of 10
93rd to 98th percentile.

Your score on the logic test is 9, which is above average. Read more about the test and how to interpret the results here.